HEARTS & MASKS

A MASTERPIECE OF MERRIMENT

By HAROLD MACGRATH

"Hearts and Masks" is a delicious detective story—a mystery, a robbery, an unmasking and all, but yet with this plot a bright, unconventional, witty dialogue that keeps the mind on the alert continually."—Boston Journal.

"Here, indeed, is a joy-spreading story that is as spirited and swift in action as anything well could be. It is light, yet it is carried forward with a swing and go that seize the reader at the start and never release him."—Nashville American.

When Harold MacGrath wrote this most exhilarating story, he was in his gayest mood and full of the zest of life.

"A peculiarly ingenious story, done with a light and cheerful touch that keeps the reader in amused suspense until the last page."—New York Herald.

"The dialogues are crisp and witty and the story is told with a dash and vim which makes it highly interesting."—Pittsburg Times.

"For frenzied romance served hot in a piquant sauce of modernity, taste the latest concoction in literary cuisines served by that eleventh hour modern, Harold MacGrath, in his 'Hearts and Masks'."—New York Telegram.

"Take Harold MacGrath's story 'Hearts and Masks' with a grain of salt and simply enjoy it—there is no necessity of believing it, nobody wants you to!"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

At every page the adventure turns an unexpected corner. It teems with breathless excitement, sparkling dialogue, fascinating, glittering atmosphere.

"Hearts and Masks—the very title suggests another of those blithely irresponsible romances of Mr. Harold MacGrath. Of course, it never could have happened, but it is delightful to make believe just the same."—New York Globe.

"A night's wild adventures, all told in the comedy vein, Mr. MacGrath's story is well invented, and he tells the invention capably, carrying it on with a wealth of incidents and much attention to detail."—New York Evening Mail.

This story will appear serially in this paper, and you will like it. Watch for the opening chapters of this remarkable mystery of the ten of hearts.
